NEW IRELAND

William Lynch's Entertaining Story of Affairs in Old Erin.

Prosperity and Union Are Now Awaiting the Advent of Freedom.

Law of Silent Contempt Has Brought About a Wonderful Change.

MUSIC ON THE BROAD OCEAN

William Lynch, the retail dry goods and notions merchant at 140 East Market street, returned home on Friday night of last week after a two months' trip. Six weeks of this time was spent in Ireland, while the other two weeks were spent in going to and coming from his native land. Mr. Lynch talked entertainingly of his trip to a representative of the Kentucky Irish American. Verily Mr. Lynch's story of the transformation that has taken place in Ireland is one that ought to carry unspeakable joy to every heart that draws a drop of Irish blood. It means that Ireland is prosperous, that Ireland is united. Certainly union and prosperity should bring freedom. Mr. Lynch says himself: "If you travel in Ireland for comfort and to obtain the best results you should travel in parties of three. One gets lonesome; two tire of the company, but the third makes the crowd happy. I visited the counties Cork, Waterford, Kilkenny and Clare, and saw a marvelous transformation. In place of the old-time discontent and poverty I saw prosperity, content and an enthusiastic reception to King Edward. The greater part of my sojourn in Ireland I spent with my brother and sisters in the County Cork. They were all well, contented and happy. It was my first visit home in seventeen years.

"The first thing that struck me was an answer to a question I asked of an Irishman in Queenstown when I landed. In response to my query as to the general condition of affairs in Ireland he answered cheerily and without hesitation: 'Castles are crumbling and cottages are going up.' I was greatly surprised, but I soon saw that he was right. On reaching home I found that the rents had been cut in half since I was there seventeen years ago. And I found that all the farmers in the South of Ireland are not only doing well with their crops, but have money in bank. In Cork, Waterford, Kilkenny and Clare I found the same conditions prevailing, and from reliable authority I learned that the same state of affairs existed all over Ireland. It was good news and I received it all with a hundred thousand welcomes; but they told me that the agricultural classes in Ireland were better off now than the same class of people in England, Scotland or Wales.

"I was in the city of Cork when King Edward and Queen Alexandra visited there. I saw them, three times in one day. They were greeted with an enthusiastic welcome by 90,000 people, while 9,000 troops were in line. The people believe King Edward has the will and will find the way to do them a great deal of good."

Mr. Lynch stated that his brother and sisters were farmers in Ireland and that all of them were doing well. He found American plows and American machinery in use everywhere, because they were lighter and more durable than the English agricultural implements. The farms are all fenced with iron and supported with stone piers, quite an improvement over the rail fences of Kentucky.

"Every farm has a neat, comfortable farm house and on every farm an acre is set apart for each laborer and his family, and each laborer has his own slate cottage with flowers before the door. I tell you it is a new Ireland! The Irish have come into their own again, thank God. What brought it about? I'll tell you, the silent and unwritten law against the grabber. It is no longer called a boycott. Say a tenant is evicted. The man who takes his place is called a grabber. No one speaks to him. No one looks at him. No one buys his product. No one buys his dairy produce. He will have to go at least forty miles before he can find some one to shoe his horse. There is neither threat nor intimidation, only silent contempt. Even the school children enter into the spirit of the affair and, young as they are, will not play with the grabbers' children. That has broken up land grabbing and has broken the landlords. Elegant demesnes are lying idle with no one but care-takers in charge. The owners are in a foreign land and flat broke. Silent contempt did the work. One merchant in Youghal bought a small amount of wool from a land grabber. For six months thereafter not one person in that and the three adjoining parishes bought one pennyworth from him. He was not threatened. He was merely ignored and was well nigh broke when he went before the United Irish League's Executive Board and promised never to buy anything else from a land grabber. He kept his word and his business has resumed its normal condition."

Mr. Lynch says that he found that many Irish-Americans were returning to Ireland and taking up land, and he believes that within the next year many more will follow suit, particularly those of middle age, who long to see again the shamrock-covered soil of their birth. There is a welcome for all in Ireland, says Mr. Lynch, save the "landlord" and the "grabber." He was also well pleased with his ocean trip and met many nice people both going and coming from Ireland. On the way to this country there were many Irish-Americans and just enough English and Scotch to make things interesting. They had many pleasant arguments and discussed everything, including "the new Ireland," the negro and the Kentucky mountain feuds. And said Mr. Lynch:

"The pleasantest feature was the last concert we had aboard ship. Nine out of twelve members were Irish. In the crowd were five priests en route home from Rome. One of them was an American and a convert. He had a magnificent voice and no one had to beg him to sing. On this last night he sang an Italian air that was beautiful. In response to an encore he sang 'Kathleen Mavourneen' and he made the old ship rock. What do you suppose he sang next? 'My Old Kentucky Home.' I don't know when I appreciated anything as much."

SUDDEN DEATH

Richard Langan Succumbed to Heart Failure On Thursday.

The news that Richard W. Langan had died unexpectedly caused a shock to the entire community when it became known last Thursday morning. Dick Langan, as he was familiarly known, had friends and acquaintances all over the city. Probably he was the best known young Irish-American in Louisville, where he was born, raised and received his education. He was an apt scholar, an agreeable conversationalist and a great mimic, although he rarely ever exhibited his powers of mimicry except before a small coterie of personal friends. He had an inexhaustible fund of humorous stories, but never told a yarn, no matter how trivial, that would hurt the feelings of the humblest. Mr. Langan was also a fluent and versatile writer, and for a number of years was the local theatrical correspondent for several New York and Cincinnati papers. Occasionally he dropped into humorous verse.

Dick Langan was born in Louisville about thirty-six years ago. His father died while he was quite a small boy and his care and education was left to his mother, Mrs. Julia E. Langan. Like the good Irish-American mother that she was, she gave her son every advantage that her means would allow. At an early age he left school and entered the service of the Bradley & Gilbert Company. He was apt and energetic and for a number of years served them in the capacity of shipping clerk. This did not interfere with his social duties, so that he found time for writing for the newspapers occasionally and for the study of music. He served several terms as President of the Louisville Mandolin and Guitar Club. About twelve years ago he was appointed one of the Assistant License Inspectors, a position which he held at the time of his death. He was from boyhood an earnest worker in the ranks of the Democratic party.

Mr. Langan was a member of the Knights of Columbus and of the Louisville Lodge B. P. O. Elks. He had been ill for some time past, but did not take to his bed until Monday. Even then he arose occasionally though he felt that the end was near. The Rev. Charles P. Raffo was with him and administered the last sacraments shortly before his death.

The funeral takes place at 9 o'clock this morning from St. Charles Borromeo church.

LABOR CARNIVAL

Promises to Be a Grand Success in Every Particular.

Arrangements for the grand carnival to be held under the auspices of Central Labor Union, to begin on Labor day, are rapidly progressing and at a meeting of the Executive Committee held Wednesday night 1,400 tickets were distributed among three unions. The committee announced that it had on hand 30,000 tickets in books of ten, which will be distributed as rapidly as possible among the various labor unions.

The object of the carnival is to secure funds for the erection of a Labor Temple or hall in which all labor bodies may hold their meetings. Ben J. Sand, Chairman of the Booth Committee, reported that a number of booths had been taken. All of the sub-committees reported satisfactory progress. The Committee on Publicity and Promotion reported that Dr. Walker B. Gossett would be chief of the medical staff during the carnival. All reports indicate that the carnival will be a success.

BIG EUCHRE.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Charity Club are making arrangements for a big euchre to be given at Bertrand Hall, Sixth street, between Oak and St. Catherine, on the evening of Tuesday, September 22. A large number of elegant prizes will be awarded the winners. The Charity Club's headquarters at 1375 Seventh street have been handsomely refurnished,

GREAT GAELIC GAMES

Will Be Held at Fern Grove Tomorrow, at the Second Annual Field Day of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Ball Game Between St. Louis Knights of Columbus and Local Hibernians Promises To Be Very Interesting.

Immense Crowd Will Be Amply Cared For By The Committees, Who Have the Affair Under Their Control.

Tomorrow the Ancient Order of Hibernians of this city will hold their second annual Irish field day at Fern Grove. The field day held last year was such a success that the rank and file of the order determined to make these contests of skill and strength an annual feature of their entertainments. The various divisions under the supervision of the County Board have been working industriously for several months in order to make this year's event a success socially, financially and from an athletic standpoint. So well did the committees do their work that people outside of Louisville became interested and as a result many Hibernians and Knights of Columbus of St. Louis will come to Louisville tomorrow morning, bringing with them a ball team composed of members of St. Louis councils of the Knights of Columbus. The St. Louis base ball team will play against a team of Louisville Hibernians, and as both clubs are composed of splendid athletes a great contest is expected.

A final meeting of the County Board was held Monday night, with County President Sullivan in the chair, and reports were made by the chairmen of various committees. It might be described as a meeting of oratory, so enthusiastically did the members report in detail the arrangements that had been made for the comfort and entertainment of all who attend the field day tomorrow. Addresses were made by President Tynan, of Division 1; President Ford, of Division 2; President Hennessy, of Division 4; Joseph P. McGinn, Mark Ryan, Roger Nohally, Owen Keenan and Joseph Hanrahan. Mr. Nohally said he was on hand to learn what the athletes of other divisions were doing.

Chairman Dolan, of the Games Committee, reported that the West End Hibernians had decided upon the following team for their side in the tug-of-war: John Joyce, Mike O'Hare, Thomas O'Hare, M. J. Hoban Pat Ridge and Thos. Noon. M. J. McGinn, of Division 4, said that he was happy to report that he had picked a team of Hibernians in Limerick that would outpull those of the West End. He announced his team as follows: Rick Quinn, James Wolf, Joe McCarthy, Steve Dunigan, John Hickey and James Keenally. Chairman Dolan reported that he had several entries for each of the athletic events. Thomas Quinn, of Division 3, reported that his committee had taken care of the prizes. The list of the events and prizes is as follows:

One hundred yards dash, fine umbrella. Two hundred yards dash, pair shoes. Hop, step and jump, rocking chair. Running high jump, three shirts. Running broad jump, fine umbrella. Putting sixteen pound shot, hat. Throwing twelve pound hammer, load of coal.

Potato race, hat. Boys' race, under fourteen years, set of boxing gloves.

Girls' race, under fourteen years, hand-some cup.

Three-legged race, two cases beer. Ball game, between Knights of Columbus of St. Louis and Louisville Hibernians, silver cup.

Con Ford made his report on advertising, which showed that the field day was being well advertised everywhere. Edward Mackey will have a quartet aboard one of the boats to entertain the excursionists with vocal selections. President Hennessy reported that all arrangements had been made for furnishing refreshments. In response to numerous requests State Secretary Meehan told the members of the County Board what he had seen and heard during his recent visit to Atlantic City, Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia. The members were pleased with his description of the way Hibernians conducted things in the East. Mr. Meehan also presented the members with copies of the Irish alphabet and the Lord's prayer in Irish.

A letter from Frank G. Cunningham, Traveling Passenger Agent of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway Company, was read and received with interest. Mr. Cunningham announced that his excursion party would leave St. Louis tonight and reach Louisville at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. Besides the members of the baseball team many prominent Knights of Columbus will come on the excursion, among them Mr. Darronset, Grand Knight of the council at Galveston, Texas, who made such a hit at the recent meeting of the American Federation of Catholic Societies. Members of the ball team will be escorted to the Louisville Hotel for breakfast, after which the excursionists will go to mass at the Cathedral or wherever they see fit. The committee appointed to receive the visitors is made up of Thomas Walsh, William M. Higgins, Mark Ryan, John Mulloy and Mike Tynan.

The line-up for the ball game will be as follows:

A. O. H.	Position	K. C.
Higgins	Catcher	Kinsella
Hanrahan	Pitcher	Lamb
Keenan	First Base	Murphy
Mackey	Second Base	Kiley
Dwan	Third Base	Burke
Sexton	Short Stop	Flood
Barry	Center Field	Reilly
Cooney	Right Field	Connell

Hugh Higgins, catcher for the locals, will act as captain of his team, while Second Baseman Kiley will captain the St. Louis team. The visitors will wear grey uniforms, with red stockings. The locals will wear blue uniforms with green stockings.

All the excursion boats on the river have been chartered for the day. The morning boats will not leave until 10 o'clock in order to allow all to attend mass. The afternoon boats will leave the first street wharf at 1:30 o'clock. A union band will discourse popular Irish music on each boat. A concert band will render a carefully selected program at the picnic grounds.

Every Irish man, woman and child in the city is invited to attend the field day. Tickets are twenty-five cents. Children under twelve years will be admitted free of charge.

Arrangements have been made by the Refreshment Committee whereby John M. Mulloy, the well known coffee and tea dealer at 214 West Market, will furnish coffee on the grounds. Everybody knows that Mulloy's coffee is the next thing to nectar. Watheen will serve the ice cream and other refreshments.

so that the main deck was very much crowded. The wind swept the rain across from one side to the other, and many of the ladies were drenched to the skin and had their handsome costumes ruined. To add to the discomfort an electrical storm helped along the wind and rain. The sharp flashes of lightning and the long rolls of thunder made many feel very uncomfortable. Suddenly a fierce blast of wind struck the boat and turning her halfway round forced her over to the Indiana side and almost against the bank. The wind was such that the pilot could not control the boat. As the noise made by the paddle wheels grating on the ground reached the ears many of the women and not a few of the men grew very much alarmed. One lady fainted and remained unconscious for some time, but the great majority showed rare presence of mind. Then the rain ceased to fall, the wind abated and the river was as serene as if the storm had never occurred. The boat swung out into the river and pursued her journey with all in a good humor and thankful for their speedy deliverance, though many were very wet.

The musical programme was given after the storm and was thoroughly enjoyed. It was given under the direction of Mrs. Fred Harig, Jr., who also acted as accompanist. Mrs. Harig is an accomplished musician and never fails to please. The first number was a soprano solo rendered by Miss Josephine Hoertz, rendered in her usual excellent style. Miss Catherine McClusky followed with a vocal solo and Miss Nettie Hollenkamp gave a violin solo that was well received. William Meade, a young baritone from Shelbyville, rendered several selections that greatly delighted the crowd. Every number on the programme was enjoyed.

Another enjoyable feature of the excursion was the euchre. It was certainly great and many handsome prizes were distributed. The one trouble was that there were more prizes for men than there were men to play euchre.

The reverend clergy were represented on the boat by Fathers William Gausepohl, George Cone and Bernard Cunningham. Dr. Joseph W. Fowler and John Coleman rendered valuable assistance to the ladies of the Catholic Woman's Club. The ladies desire to thank all friends and patrons who assisted them to make their first excursion a success.

ENJOY YOURSELF.

Take your families and friends to the Irish field day at Fern Grove tomorrow. Go early and make a day of it. The Hibernians have earned success by their energetic work and with fair weather a great crowd should attend the outing. It is good for you to meet and converse with other members of the Irish race. Nothing has been left undone to prepare for your comfort and entertainment.

BE CLEAN OF SPEECH.

The Holy Name Society has long been recognized as one of the main lay societies productive of good among the Catholics of America. Now it has received the indorsement of the President of the United States, and thus indirectly it will doubtless be a power for good among the non-Catholics of America. The organization known as the Holy Name Society was originated by the Dominican priests about thirty-five years ago. The object primarily is to prevent blasphemy and the taking the name of God in vain. Likewise it was intended to stop all immodest conversations, immoral stories and to promote morality among Catholic men. Branches of the Holy Name Society have been formed in every city where the Dominicans have a church. Nor is it now confined to the Dominicans alone. Only recently the Very Rev. Father C. A. McKenna, well and favorably known in Louisville, established a branch of the society in Buffalo in a parish presided over by secular priests. When this branch was organized 600 men and youths pledged themselves not only to refrain from blasphemy and the use of immoral language, but to persuade others to do so.

Last Sunday President Roosevelt, at his summer home at Oyster Bay addressed 2,000 men, members of the Holy Name Society of Brooklyn and Long Island. So great was the crowd that the meeting was held outside St. Dominic's church, and President Roosevelt spoke from a stand that had been erected for the occasion. It is not necessary here to repeat President Roosevelt's speech in full—the daily papers did that—but all should ponder over and remember one particular sentence. It is this: "I ask you to remember that you can not retain your self-respect if you are loose and foul of tongue."

These words of President Roosevelt constitute an axiom. You can not get away from them. They are truth itself. And you should likewise remember if you can not retain your self respect you can not expect the respect of others. Who knows how far-reaching will be the effect of President Roosevelt's address? It has been printed in every daily paper in America and has been read by every class and creed. It has made a favorable and a lasting impression on the minds of thousands in every walk of life. The effect will redound not so much to the credit of our Chief Executive as to the Holy Name Society.

IRISH PATRIOT.

Those gentlemen who had the good fortune to make the acquaintance of Col. Francis O'Neill, Chicago's great Chief of Police, when he attended the convention of the Chiefs of Police of the United States and Canada in this city last May one year ago, will have no difficulty in remembering that he was in the front rank of the of the peace officers of this continent.

Quiet, modest, unassuming, yet earnest and sincere, he was par excellence the ideal peace officer. No one ever thought of calling him Frank. It is always Francis. All learned that this able Irish-American was a great student and possessed the finest private library in Chicago, but few knew of his musical accomplishments. Chief O'Neill has just published a collection of Irish melodies that embraces 1,850 pieces. He has spent ten years upon this compilation, and with his own pen set the music on paper wherever it was impossible to find a copy of the music. The book is printed from copper plates and the title page is from a special design drawn by Col. O'Neill. He sent the first copy that came from the press to a friend in Ireland. He has not compiled this work for the sake of money-making, but for the sole purpose of collecting and perpetuating the melodies of Ireland. Would that there were many more Irish-Americans with the patriotism of Francis O'Neill.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

When George Tebeau came to Louisville to engage in running a baseball club many thought he was foolish, because others had failed. Mr. Tebeau fooled the wise ones. He had investigated before he spent any money and found that there were enough fans in this neck of the woods not only to support a team, but to allow the owner of the club a very liberal percentage on his outlay. He spent money, got together a good ball team and made his money back. Nobody ever accused Mr. Tebeau of being in the baseball business for his health, but the people of Louisville do expect fair treatment; that is they want to see a creditable game of ball when they put up their money for it, but they do not expect to patronize the game when the best players in the team are disposed of to fatten the pocket book of Manager Tebeau.

This week he sold Walker and Kerwin, but he tells us discreetly that he will keep Capt. Clymer. How very considerate! Captain Clymer says, through the medium of the daily papers, that he has made no arrangements with Tebeau for next year. Suppose he had, Capt. Clymer alone would not make a ball team, any more than one swallow makes a summer. If Mr. Tebeau will keep his good players and replace the poor ones with better men he will fatten his purse just as much in the long run as if he had sold all his star players, but probably not so rapidly.

To be sporty in Louisville one must be game and on the level.

EMPLOYER AND EMPLOYEE.

A gentleman who ought to be in a position to know is credited with the statement that the local association of employers, which is a branch of the national body now being formed, was determined to stamp out unionism of every form among employees. It is barely possible that he was mistaken. It is probable that certain members of the local employers' body would like to stamp out unionism. Of course the movement will fail. It may succeed temporarily in a few shops, but as a whole it will never succeed.

Trades unionists of the most ardent stripe have never sought by word or deed to prevent employers from uniting for their mutual benefit. Why, then, should employers seek to prevent their employees from forming unions? There are good and bad employers, just as there are good and bad employees. There are more employees in this country than employers, and it follows that there must be more good employees than good employers, because comparatively few trades unions have grievances and strikes among trades union men are the exception rather than the rule.

As long as an employee attends to the duty that his employer pays him for it is none of the employer's business what church that man attends, what food he eats nor what clothes he wears.

Suppose an employer would say: "Here, you fellows must quit the union or quit working for me." What assurance would they have that next year the same boss would not say: "No man can work for me unless he eats pie for breakfast." The idea is ridiculous. Trades unionism is here to stay. It was a union of the people that forced the Magna Charta from King John. And "by the eternal," as Old Hickory Jackson would say, the people still live.

The Evening Post is offering its subscribers a "Life of Pope Leo XIII." which appears to be an excellent work. It is from the pen of the Rev. Father McGovern, and is supported with letters of approval from several members of the American hierarchy. Thus again does the Post show its willingness to supply the need of its Catholic patrons. Certainly its efforts to please are appreciated.

The cable brought the information Monday that Pope Pius X. had given $20,000 to be distributed among the poor of Rome. Surely such generosity shows that a worthy successor to Pope Leo XIII. has been found and that his only object in possessing money is the good use he can make of it. May he reign gloriously and long.

Last week's issue of the Catholic Telegraph was excellent indeed. If it would follow the practice of taking bodily sixteen news items from the Kentucky Irish American each week it would soon establish a reputation as a newspaper.

RECENT DEATHS.

It was with great regret that the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joyce heard of the death of their infant daughter, Ellen Evelyn, which occurred at the family residence, 1104 Rowan street, last Sunday. The funeral took place from the residence Monday afternoon.

Daniel Sullivan died at the residence of his son-in-law, Michael Cain, 822 Oldham street, last Sunday night. The funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand church Tuesday morning. Many friends of the deceased attended the funeral and extended their sympathy to the bereaved family.

It was with great regret that the community learned of the death of Mrs. M. T. McClure, wife of E. McClure, which occurred at her home in Leitchfield on Tuesday. She was a sister of Thomas Edelin, of Louisville, and the mother of James and Thomas McClure and Mrs. Annie McCabe, all of Grayson Springs.

James Ormond, an old and respected resident of New Albany, died at his home, on the Charlestown road, on Tuesday. Mr. Ormond was born in Ireland eighty-two years ago and death resulted from the infirmities of old age. He had spent the greater part of his life in New Albany and was a devout member of the Holy Trinity church. His funeral took place yesterday morning. Many friends of the deceased had extended their sympathy to the widow and two daughters who survive.

Mrs. Theresa Buxie, forty-three years of age, died at her home, 1181 Sixth street, at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The deceased was the wife of George Buxie, a well known engineer in the service of the Cincinnati division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Mrs. Buxie's death was due to a complication of diseases. She leaves several children. The deceased had lived nearly all her life in the East End and was known for her charity and womanly qualities. The funeral took place from St. Martin's church at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

HEALTH IS BETTER.

The Rev. Father A. J. Brady, pastor of St. Cecilia's church, is still at Mackinac Island. According to the latest reports his health is rapidly improving.

JOCKEY CLUB CONCERTS.

The New Louisville Jockey Club has re-engaged Kurkamp's band for another week. The band drew large crowds every night last week and is proving a very popular attraction. The usual pyrotechnic display will be given on Saturday night. The Liederkreis Society will render several excellent numbers on Friday night and a special programme will be arranged each night by Professor Kurkamp.

IMPOSING CEREMONY.

The annual retreat of the Sisters of Providence closed at the Convent of St. Mary's-of-the-Woods, the home of the order, near Terre Haute, last Sunday. More than 600 sisters from all parts of the world were present. Bishop Chatard celebrated Pontifical mass at the close of the retreat. During the services sixteen novices received the habit of the order, eighteen took the black veil, and twenty-one, who had worn the habit ten years, made their perpetual vows.

MACKIN COUNCIL
Arouses Interest Among Its Members to Pay Off Last Note.

Mackin Council, Young Men's Institute, held a well attended meeting last Tuesday night. Of course Frank Murphy presided with his usual dignity. The committee appointed to make the arrangements for the Grand Council and the reception of delegates made a report, which was well received. The special committee appointed to make arrangements for the big joint initiation which is to take place in September, during the meeting of the Grand Council, reported progress.

After the transaction of considerable routine business several stirring addresses were made which renewed interest in the prompt payment of the last note due on the club house. The members pledged themselves to secure the prompt collection of dues, so that when September 10 rolls around the club house will be free of debt and the tenth anniversary of Mackin Council will be spent in a home absolutely its own.

Incidental to the meeting mention was made of the forthcoming marriage of Louis Borntraeger, and it was generally conceded that the Kentucky Irish American had caused another to desert from the Bachelors' Club.

GROUND TO DEATH.
Thomas Kennedy Killed By a Fast Passenger Train.

Thomas Kennedy, a well known young man of the West End, met death in an unfortunate accident near Seymour, Ind., on Monday morning. The deceased was walking along the track when he was struck by a fast passenger train of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad. His head was severed from his body, and death was instantaneous.

Mr. Kennedy was twenty-six years old and resided with his parents at 1220 High street. The remains were brought home for interment. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Many friends of the dead man followed his remains to their last resting place.

GIRLS WHO WORK.
The girl who earns her own money should endeavor to save a portion of it from each payment. No matter how small the payment may be it will be forming a wise habit to lay it aside. At the end of a year quite a little sum is realized that can be turned to good advantage. A more intelligent sense of what constitutes thrift and economy is needed, especially among women of the working classes. It is the easiest thing in the world to spend money, but we all find it difficult to save it. To study one's needs and supply them in accordance with one's circumstances is making the best results out of our limitations. The girl who works all day will be greatly benefited by belonging to some good literary club or society, where she will derive a helpful intercourse with people who will broaden and beautify her mind. Education is not wholly confined to schools, but to the things that lie within our reach if we make the effort to grasp them.

FAMILY REUNION.
The members of the well known Coyle family of Hardin county held a family reunion at Elizabethtown recently. The occasion was in celebration of a visit from Sister Callista, of the Order of Loretto, who had not visited her old home for twenty-five years. Among the members of the family present were Mrs. Calvin Gray, of Louisville; M. J. Coyle, of New Haven; Mrs. William Gullion, Mrs. Martha Weller and Mrs. Christina Fowler, all of Hardin county, and half sisters and brothers to Sister Callista, who was Miss Lucinda Roberson; and Mrs. George Campbell, who is a full sister to Sister Callista. The family has had but one death since 1858.

VISITING CONVENTS.
Sister Margaret Mary and Sister Mary Rita, well known members of the Sisters of Mercy and teachers at St. Catherine's Convent on East Broadway, have been visiting convents of the order in New York, Crescent, Pa., and other points in the East during the past six weeks. They will return to Louisville about September 1.

NEW ALBANY DELEGATES.
The Grand Council, Young Men's Institute, Indiana jurisdiction, will meet at Indianapolis on Tuesday, August 25. Deputy Supreme President Charles E. Cheap, Grand Treasurer Peter Pfeiffer and Con. McBarron will leave Monday to represent Unity Council of New Albany.

FATHER WHITE ILL.
Rev. Father Thomas P. White, pastor of the Church of St. Francis of Rome, Clifton, is at St. Mary and Elizabeth's Hospital, suffering from a severe attack of indigestion. He is not receiving visitors. Father White's many friends hope to see him out in the near future.

BELLS OF SHANDON.
With deep affection and recollection I often think of those Shandon bells, Whose sound so wild would, in days of childhood, Fling round my cradle their magic spells.
On this I ponder, where'er I wander, And thus grow fonder, sweet Cork, of thee;
With thy bells of Shandon, That sound so grand on The pleasant waters of the river Lee.
I've heard bells chiming full many a clime in, Tolling sublime in cathedral shrine; While at a glibe rate brass tongues would vibrate; But all their music spoke naught like thine;
For memory dwelling on each proud swelling Of thy belfry knelling its bold notes free,
Made the bells of Shandon, Sound far more grand on The pleasant waters of the river Lee.

WELCOME VISITOR.
Agent of the United States Department of Labor Calls.
George A. Traylor, special agent of the United States Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., was a welcome caller at the office of the Kentucky Irish American during the present week. Mr. Traylor is looking up wages and hours of labor in all the different branches of industry in the city of Louisville, covering the period from 1890 to 1903 inclusive. Mr. Traylor said in response to queries: "I have found wherever I have visited always an average increase in wages and a shortening of working hours, but I have also found that the cost of living has increased far beyond the increase in wages in every city."

VERY OLD PAPER.
Mike Rapp, the popular sand artist at 1253 Melwood avenue, is the proud possessor of a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, which is more than 100 years old. He has been exhibiting it to many friends and neighbors.

BUCKINGHAM.
There is little doubt but that tomorrow's matinee will prove a gala day at the Buckingham Theater, since that day will mark the opening of the new season. Watson's American Burlesquers will provide royal entertainment for those who attend, and it is needless to say that the usual large audience will prevail on each performance during the week.

SAFE AT HOME.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Kraft have returned after an extensive trip through the West. Their tour included California, Yellowstone Park and other points of interest. Both husband and wife are very much improved in health after their two months' trip.

SILVER JUBILEE
Of the St. Vincent de Paul's Church Celebrated Last Sunday.

The silver jubilee of St. Vincent de Paul's church at Shelby and Oak streets was largely attended. The beautiful church was crowded to the doors with members of the congregation and their friends from other parishes. The main celebration was held at 10 o'clock, when the Very Rev. Father Ohle, pastor of the congregation, celebrated solemn high mass. He was assisted by the Rev. Father Thome, of St. Martin's church, as deacon, and the Very Rev. Father Leo Greulich, of St. Anthony's church, as sub-deacon.

The sermon was delivered by the Very Rev. Father Paul Alf, pastor of St. Boniface's church, who paid a high tribute to the zeal of St. Vincent de Paul's congregation. The music rendered during the mass was excellent. The choir was augmented by many of the leading singers of other congregations and supplemented by a full orchestra under the direction of Professor Ed Morbach.

SAD TIDINGS.
Death of Pious and Loving Mother of Two Louisville Nuns.

The sad intelligence was received here Tuesday of the death at Cumberland, Md., of Mrs. Rosina Kuhlman, widow of Bernard Kuhlman. The deceased was seventy-eight years of age. While she had never resided in Louisville two of her daughters, Sister Leo Corle and Sister Freddie, are members of the Ursuline community at Shelby and Chestnut streets; another daughter, Sister Mary Darra, is connected with St. Agnes' Convent at Fond du Lac, Wis., and a son, Rev. Father Kuhlman, is a parish priest at Canal Dover, Ohio. She was also an aunt of ex-United States Senator George I. Wellington, of Maryland. Throughout her life Mrs. Kuhlman was noted for her charity and benevolence.

PLACE TO REST.
The Nonpareil Outing Club, an organization made up of several members of Unity Council, Young Men's Institute, of New Albany, continues to conduct its fishing camp a short distance below New Albany and about opposite Riverview Park, on the Kentucky side of the Ohio river. The camp can be reached by a few minutes' walk from the car lines and ample accommodations and many amusements, including rowing, fishing and bathing, have been provided for members of the club and their guests. Members of Louisville councils of the Young Men's Institute will be welcome at all times, and a special programme has been arranged for their entertainment tomorrow.

DELEGATE KEENAN.
Thomas Keenan, the well known undertaker and member of the firm of Dougherty & Keenan, is in Minneapolis attending the national convention of funeral directors. He is one of the delegates from the Kentucky association. Mrs. Keenan accompanied her husband on the trip. Mr. Keenan is likewise State President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and will doubtless be able to tell the local Hibernians much about Irish-Americans in the Northwest when he returns.

MEETING POSTPONED.
The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians which was to have been held on Wednesday last was postponed until Sunday, August 30. The reason for the postponement is that many members of the Ladies' Auxiliary are also members of the Catholic Business Women's Club, which organization gave a sunset excursion Wednesday evening.

NEEDS A REST.
The Rev. Father Denis Murphy, pastor of St. William's church, who suffered two severe spells of illness during the past fortnight, is recovering and is able to resume his duties. Father Murphy has had no rest during three years past, and it is hoped he will soon be permitted to enjoy a vacation.

BISHOP-ELECT O'REILLY.
The Rev. Charles J. O'Reilly will be consecrated Bishop of the new diocese of Baker City, Ore., on August 25. Archbishop Christie will officiate. The new diocese will include all that portion of Oregon east of the Cascade mountains, an area of 62,000 square miles.

VERY OLD PAPER.
Mike Rapp, the popular sand artist at 1253 Melwood avenue, is the proud possessor of a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, which is more than 100 years old. He has been exhibiting it to many friends and neighbors.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Division 37, of Charlestown, Mass., will hold its annual picnic on Labor day. Division 2, of Erie, N. Y., has been organized under auspicious circumstances.

Division 50, of Boston, will exemplify the full four degrees on a class of twenty-five candidates September 27.

James Sheridan, James P. Stevens, Thomas J. Stevens and John Joyce are the latest applicants for admission to Division 3.

The Rev. Father John J. Ryan, of St. Columba's church, Buffalo, has been appointed County Chaplain of the Hibernians.

A new branch of the Ladies' Auxiliary has been formed at Ottawa, Can. A similar branch was formed at New Brunswick, Can.

About 6,000 people attended the Oneida County Hibernian picnic at Utica Park, New York. The parade preceding it was imposing.

Division 18, of Buffalo, is the latest acquisition to the order in Erie county, New York. The charter will remain open for thirty days.

The Massachusetts State Board held a meeting recently in Boston. Reports showed that the order in Massachusetts now has a membership of 25,000.

Caps for the members of the base ball team and any others who desire them can be secured at Dougherty & Keenan's, Market street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth.

Eight thousand men with forty bands and drum corps were in line in the grand A. O. H. demonstration at Hartford, Conn., on Wednesday. Athletic contests were the main features of the day.

Division 9, Hibernian Rifles, of Jersey City, held a big midsummer night's festival on Wednesday. Delegations from Bayonne, Elizabethport and other nearby cities joined the Hibernian Rifles in their parade.

Every Irish man, woman and child in the city is invited to attend the field day. Tickets are twenty-five cents and children under twelve years of age will be admitted free of charge. No improper characters will be allowed on the spot.

Thomas Quinn occupied the chair at the last meeting of Division 3, owing to the absence of President John Kavanagh. In order to allow the County Board to meet only such business as was absolutely necessary, such as the approval of bills, etc., was transacted.

Division 18, the baby division of Providence, R. I., at a recent meeting received the welcome news that it was not only out of debt, but had a balance of $500 in the treasury. The Finance Committee also reported that as a result of the recent Irish field day each division would have $100 added to its treasury. At the next meeting sixty candidates will receive the full four degrees.

St. Paul, Minn., has taken its hat off to the Hibernians. They were invited by the St. Paul Carnival Association to visit the carnival on August 7, Hibernian day. Just to show that the order was united the members turned out stronger than any other organization in the city. More than 2,000 men marched in line and preceded a float carrying the Maid of Erin, the four provinces and the thirty-two counties of Ireland.

ST. JOSEPH'S OUTING.

The people of St. Joseph's congregation on East Washington street have arranged to have their annual outing at Fern Grove next Tuesday. The boats will leave the First street wharf at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

For the amusement of old and young games have been arranged, among them target shooting, discus throwing, baseball, foot sack and hurdle races, and last, but by no means least, a potato race for old men only. A pleasant day is assured all who attend.

CLOSER RELATIONSHIP.

Steps are being taken toward organizing a central body of the various German-American societies in Louisville and it is believed that the first definite move in this direction will be taken at the next meeting of the Turner Society, two weeks hence. The object is to bring the many local German-American societies into closer relationship, irrespective of creed, and thus secure a larger representation in the national convention of German-American societies.

Henry Bosquet, a representative German-American, says that thus far none of the German Catholic societies have been approached on the subject. Mr. Bosquet considers the idea a good one, but is not prepared to say what any of the Catholic societies will do in regard to the matter.

RECOGNITION

Of Ability Made by the Illinois Glass Company in Its Selections.

Young Irish-American is Assistant Manager of Local Plant.

Grand Opening of the New Quarters Well Attended by Friends.

LARGE AND ENTERPRISING FIRM

Eagan M. Bigley, assistant manager of the local plant of the Illinois Glass Company, is a living object lesson of what a hardworking, intelligent Irish-American can do. Mr. Bigley is not more than twenty-five years old. Seven years ago he entered the service of the Illinois Glass Company in this city in the humble capacity of a laborer. He was quick, prompt, intelligent and energetic. All of these qualities were recognized and he arose gradually until at the present time he is assistant manager under Henry Christman, manager of the local plant.

The Illinois Glass Company owns the largest glass works in the world. It is located at Alton, Ill., and there bottles of every size and description are made. It is recognized all over the world as the manufacturer of bottles and has a reputation second to none for fair dealing and splendid workmanship. The company has warehouses and offices in all the leading cities in the United States, and although it maintained a warehouse and office in Louisville for a number of years the trade here has become so great that it became necessary to enlarge the capacity of the local office and warehouse, and on last Saturday the firm took possession of its handsome and commodious new quarters, 113 to 119 Second street. The building contains five stories and a basement and more floor space than any warehouse in the city. The office is elaborately fitted with the latest modern improvements and is conceded to be the best appointed business office in the city. The new warehouse began with a force of twenty-five men, which it is expected will be increased four-fold before another year rolls around.

The formal opening of the new plant took place last Saturday and several hundred business men inspected the new building and partook of the hospitality generously dispensed. From 10 o'clock in the morning until 3 in the afternoon Messrs. Christman and Bigley were kept busy showing friends and patrons over their handsome new quarters. A string band played the latest popular airs, the office was replete with the perfume of flowers and those excellent caterers, Sullivan & Brach, superintended the dispensing of refreshments.

The Illinois Glass Company is showing its enterprise and also that it appreciates the worth of its able assistant manager, Eagan M. Bigley.

BASEBALL.

The Frank Goss team will play the Cincinnati Harlem ball club at Eclipse Park tomorrow. The game will be called at 3:15 o'clock. Ladies will be admitted free.

MASONIC THEATER.

The new and handsome Masonic Theater, Chestnut street, between Third and Fourth, will throw open its doors for the first performance on Monday night. Beyond a doubt it is the prettiest and most modernly equipped theater in this part of the country. The house will open with a rollicking musical comedy entitled "Reuben in New York." This has had a long run in several Eastern cities and has been highly praised by dramatic critics. The comedy abounds in humorous scenes, presents scores of pretty girls in stunning costumes, and serves to introduce many clever comedians and an abundance of catchy music. This same company presenting the same comedy will open the new Crawford Theater in St. Louis a week hence. The new theater is elegantly furnished with upholstered chairs, not only in the parquette and dress circle, but in the balcony and gallery. In order that the theater may be quickly emptied, thirty exits have been provided, a great advantage over other local theaters. Patrons of the theater are invited to order their seats by telephone. Both phones are in the office and seats can be reserved in any part of the house by simply using the telephone. The management announces that at no time will any character be permitted on the stage ridiculing any creed or nationality in an offensive way.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

John Keohane was burned to death in the city of Cork.

The recent small epidemic of smallpox at Dublin has been stamped out.

The Waterford Boat Club recently defeated clubs in the regatta at Carlow and Ross.

Two youths, named respectively Shay and Monahan, were accidentally drowned in the Glanmire river.

David Herlihan dropped dead in Tipperary while playing a game of handball. He leaves a wife and family.

The Rev. Father Hyland, a native of Dublin, died in the residence of St. George's Cathedral, Southwark.

Thomas O'Shea farmer near Pallas, was accidentally killed by a fast train between Limerick and Limerick Junction.

Mrs. Abina Barry, widow of the late John Barry, died at her residence, Donoughmore. She was very old and highly respected.

Little Peter Collins, the five-year-old son of Francis Collins of Drogheda, followed his rolling hoop into the river and was drowned.

William Riordan, a dock gate man, while working on a barge in Limerick, fell into the river and drowned. His body was recovered.

Jeremiah Delaney, a telegraph wireman, died suddenly in Cork. It will be necessary to hold a postmortem examination to ascertain the cause of his death.

P. J. O'Connor, one of the most popular educators in Ireland, died at the Curragh, Kildare. He was a proficient mathematician and tutor of military science.

The second annual exhibition of the Waterford Agricultural Society proved to be a great success. A feature was the lectures on "Model Dairykeeping" by Miss Casey.

Brother C. Maguire, a noted member of the Christian Brothers, died in the Mater Hospital, Dublin. He had been a teacher at Nenagh during the past twelve years and was held in the highest esteem.

The Rev. M. B. Kennedy, of Fermoy, has been elected President of the North East Cork Executive Committee of the United Irish League, to succeed the late Father T. M. O'Callaghan, recently deceased.

John Nolan, a laborer, and Chris Quinn, a sixteen-year-old youth, quarreled at Derrymore, South Kildare, and it is alleged that Quinn struck Nolan with his fist. Nolan fell and died immediately. Quinn is under arrest.

An excursion train from Dublin and the mail train from Sligo collided at Ballymore station. Fortunately the collision was very slight and of the more than 600 persons on the two trains only six were injured and none seriously.

The Gaelic League has just celebrated its tenth anniversary. During these ten years of incessant toil the society has grown into great proportions, but it has still much work to perform before the Gaelic language is spoken all over Ireland.

Jeremiah Collins, a member of one of the most respected families in Rosscarbery, passed away after a long illness. The deceased was seventy-two years old and was recognized as an enterprising merchant. All classes and creeds followed his remains to their last resting place in the family cemetery.

James Dillon, a highly respected farmer in the vicinity of Tralee, was fatally injured while attending the funeral of a neighbor and died the following day. While riding in the funeral procession Dillon's horse shied and jumped a fence into an orchard. The rider was thrown against a tree and his skull was fractured.

Jeremiah Gleason, a porter at a hotel at Limerick Junction, fell asleep on the train leaving Dublin. He was being carried beyond his destination, when he awoke and without thinking threw himself from the car. A piece of skull had been driven into his brain. It is believed that he will recover.

Enterprising merchants and manufacturers in Dublin are preparing to give an international world's fair in 1906. It is expected to be under the patronage of King Edward VII. At a meeting of public-spirited citizens to be held in September an effort will be made to raise a guarantee fund of $500,000, which will be supplemented by cash subscriptions.

UNPLEASANT NEWS.

Capt. Frank Hagan has gone to Limerick, Ill., to attend the bedside of his brother, the Rev. Father James M. Hagan, who is pastor of a church at that point. A telegram to Capt. Hagan stated that his brother could live only a few days.
